

Godahl Drury Presents:
Rambling Roommates

If you find this card on your person, write your initials on the other side of the card, then give it to somebody else without them noticing. When every available space on this card has been completely covered by peoples' marks, all players win.

Rambling Roommates

Place this card somewhere safe and leave it there for 2000 years. If you're a future historian studying this card, determine the context for why it exists and why the art is like this. The more accurate you are, the better you win, but of course you'll never truly know either of those metrics.

Godahl Drury Presents:
Rambling Roommates

Put this card somewhere you can see it, and play any videogame. Try to play well, but spend as much time as possible looking at this card instead of the screen.

Take this card to your sink and pour water on it, and leave the faucet running on this card until it's completely dissolved. You win when it's totally gone.

Crumble up this card as thoroughly as you are able to. Then, set it on fire. THEN, grind the ashes into as fine a powder as you are able to. THEN eat the ground ashes. Then you win.

ALTERNATE RULES: Resist the urge to play this game for as long as you can. You win when you fail.

Pick any integer (you probably shouldn't pick a big one, but you never know) and throw this card into the air, giving yourself one point each time. If it lands text side up, you must toss it again. If it lands IMAGE side up, the game is over and your score is finalized. If your final score is EXACTLY the integer you guessed, you win! Otherwise, you suck!

Godahl Drury Presents:
Rambling Roommates

Give this card to someone you love, but use black paint to completely blot out the words and images on both sides of this card, so that your loved one will never know why you gave this to them. You win when they figure it out.

Rambling Roommates

Use the edge of this card to scratch any itch you have, and ONLY the edge of this card--if you use anything else, be it a fingernail nail file or tooth, you lose instantly.

While with a friend, drop this card on the ground and ask them to pick it up. Tell them your knee's been killing you if they want to know why you don't do it yourself. Once they give it to you, immediately drop it again. You lose when your friend stops picking it up, unless they picked it up more than three times.
